6. Data Processing Consent

Consent to the processing of the claimant's personal data (if the claimant is an individual), as well as the personal data of any individuals mentioned in the notice.

Review Process

If the information provided is insufficient, the Service Administration will notify the sender accordingly. Failure to respond or to provide the necessary information will prevent the Service Administration from conducting an objective review of the claim.

If all the required information is provided, the Service Administration will:

1. Request additional details from the relevant sellers regarding their right to use the disputed designations
2. Review the information received from all parties
3. Decide whether to take action, including the removal of the disputed items or materials posted by the seller

Notification of Results

The result of the review will be communicated to the rights holder via the email address provided in the notice.
